The SAAF CONNECTION

Your Impact Report FY 2019-2020

"The food pantry of SAAF has been a tremendous help to me, especially during the pandemic. Through delivery and a drive-thru, I have been able to receive fresh, healthy foods during a difficult time for me and my family. The variety and quality of the food has truly been a blessing. It has provided a door to try new creative combinations in the kitchen and a framework for overall physical and mental health improvement. I cannot say thank you enough!" — Food For Life Program Participant

A Letter from SAAF's Chief Executive Officer

While I've spent the past 15 years as a family physician treating our community, the impact I feel I'm making for our community has never been greater than since I joined SAAF.

In my few short months as the CEO of SAAF, I've learned the true impact that SAAF has on our community. From supporting over 1,500 people in Southern Arizona living with HIV/AIDS with health insurance, case management and mental health care, housing, food, and more, to ensuring that LGBTQ+ kids feel less isolated and have a community to call their own... SAAF means so much to so many in Tucson and throughout Arizona.

The past year has, no doubt, been a challenge for all of us. COVID has changed how we work, how we learn, and how we interact with each other. For our clients, so many of whom were already on the margins before the pandemic hit our shores, COVID would have been devastating if it weren't for the services SAAF provides. Through social-distanced approaches and our #SAAFtyFirst protocols to keep our staff and clients safe and healthy, SAAF has continued providing in-person and remote care to our clients and participants. This includes Zoom and telephone case management, food and hygiene pick-ups for youth at the Thornhill Lopez Center on 4th, on-site syringe access, and delivery of hot meals for those who can't come to us. Seeing how our community has come together during COVID inspires me to do all I can to make sure SAAF is the best it can be.

If a global pandemic wasn't enough, we also saw issues of race, gender, and sexuality resurge in 2020. SAAF is proud to serve several underrepresented groups, including people of color, people living with HIV, people with substance abuse disorders, undocumented immigrants, and LGBTQ+ people. SAAF is committed to the important work of diversity, equity, and inclusion both internally and in our community, as we continue to strive towards a more just and stigma-free society.

In 2020, our region's largest school district adopted a sex-ed curriculum that is inclusive of LGBTQ+ students, and teaches everyone who participates the differences among sex, gender, and sexuality. I was proud to be a part of developing that curriculum and am proud to have been elected to the TUSD Governing Board. Diversity, equity, and inclusion has gone from theory to practice in many organizations.

Looking forward, this year ahead is one of the most exciting times to be part of SAAF. We will soon have an updated Strategic Plan that will not only guide what we do as an organization to ensure we're meeting the needs of our community, but will define who we are and what we stand for. We've already seen so many from our community be part of this important process. I can't wait to be on the journey with you as SAAF continues to grow into the institution our community needs.

As a parent of three young children, I understand the importance of building our society for the next generation. That's the role I see for SAAF in our community. And we can't do this without the amazing support of caring people like you. From volunteering your time and expertise to our mission, to financial contributions that fund the services we provide, YOU are part of the solution that allows SAAF to build a better society for all of us. Thank you!

Gratefully,

Care Services

Overview FY 2019-2020

The Care Services Department ensures that people living with HIV/AIDS have access to the services they need to maintain optimal health and live as independently and safely as possible. SAAF continues to provide case management, medical case management, housing, support services, and support to LGBTQ+ community members experiencing violence and harassment through our Anti-Violence Project. Care Services programs are grouped into three primary areas: case management, support services, and housing services.

During a very difficult year for clients, SAAF was able to continue vital care programs and services:

Prevention Overview FY 2019-2020

The Prevention Department uses empowering harm reduction approaches to cultivate healthier communities. With passion, compassion, humility, and creativity, we make a difference. We create sex-positive, safer spaces, and provide culturally-responsive services that are client-centered. We embrace and respect our communities through a flexible, non-judgmental approach. Never forgetting we are the communities we serve, we use our energy and expertise to foster social equity. We cultivate collaborative relationships to achieve comprehensive services. We are a team. We are supportive of each other -- fiercely advocating for and with our communities. We are not afraid to push buttons. We don't wait for change. We initiate it! Prevent! Promote! Protect!

SAAF provided effective behavioral interventions, public health strategies and health education and risk-reduction activities that included outreach, individual-level interventions, group-level interventions, community-level interventions, health education/public information, and social media strategies.

Volunteers are All-Important: The Impact of SAAF Volunteers

During a year where so much has been uncertain and ever changing, the enthusiasm that SAAF volunteers have exhibited in serving SAAF clients has never faltered. Our organization has always relied heavily on volunteer support, and as this year presented an influx of needs, our volunteers rose to the challenges of 2020 without hesitation. From delivering meals to clients who were quarantined, to performing COVID screenings for every person who attends our needle exchange, SAAF volunteers have (and continue to) show up. Our volunteers are a diverse bunch who come from all walks of life, but they are united by a common passion for helping make our community a better place, one volunteer hour at a time. We are so grateful for our volunteers, as we wouldn't be able to carry out our mission of cultivating a healthy and stigma-free society without their dedication to transformative action.
